CONTESTED IN CIRCUIT COURT

A. A. Meriben-A Special Jury Impaneled-A Petty Suit in the Other Court. The Assailant of Weaver Fined.

In Part II of the Circuit Court yester day, Judge Boyd presiding, the Meriben will case was put on trial to a special jury composed of Messrs. L. D. Waite, W. E. McColloch, Henry Meder, N. A. Thornburgh, J. F. Gardner, Charles Goetze Henry Sonneborn, John H. Clark, Lean-der McGill, Henry Jones, Thomas Nes

The heirs at law, Mrs. Frances McNulty, a sister, living in San Francisco, and J. B. Meriben, a brother, of this city, appeal to the Circuit Court from the decision of Recorder Hook, admitting to probate the last will and testament of Adrian A. Meri-ben, deceased, in which G. W. Dunbar ben, deceased, in which G. W. Dunbar and wife, Mrs. Crymble, John Dulty and Mrs. Dulty and a nephew of the deceased, a son of Mrs. McNulty, are named as the heirs to the considerable property left by the deceased. Messrs. W. P. Hubbard and G. L. Oranmer are counsel for the heirs named in the will, and Caldwell & Caldwell and H. M. Russell for the contestants. The contestants allego undue influence, and that the deceased was not in a sound and disposing mental condition when the will was made.

summoned, and the case is expected to occupy several days.

In Part I, Judge Jacob, the case of J. T. Crotty & Co., of New York, manufacturers of the "Harper Bazar patterns," against W. V. Brown, to recover $75 alleged to be due on a contract, was put on trial on an appeal from Squire W. H. Caldwell's court. Mr. Brown alleges that Crotty's agent represented bimself as a representative of Harper Bros., and induced him to order $100 worth of patterns and pay $25 on account. When he learned and pay $25 on account. When he learned that the man did not represent the Har-pers he annulled the contract. Hence the suit. Justice Caldwellgave judgment for Crotty & Co.

Weaver's Assailant. Weaver's Assailant.

In the police court yesterday morning the cases against Dick Baxter and Bill Weaver were turned over to 'Equire Davis, the cases on the face being proper subjects for a State tribunal. Baxter went before Squire W. H. Davis and plead guilty to assault and battery and was fined $10 and costs. Weaver did not appear. Baxter alleged in mitigation of his offense that Weaver was annoying Mrs. Baxter and attempting to force an entrance into the house. Hence the light penalty for the attempting to force an entrance into the house. Hence the light penalty for the severe beating Weaver received.

Judge Jellers fined Bill Smith $5 and costs for disorderly conduct Saturday night, and $20 and costs for resisting Officer Truschel, besides giving him one day cer Truschel, besides giving him one day in the workhouse without bail or main-prize for the latter offense.

s vice at the Fourth Street M. E. Church, had a novel experience here yesterday.

For the first time, so she says, in the four or five years that she has worked among and talked with railroad men and workingmen generally she was insulted; and further, the insulter was a railroad man—one of the class to whish Jennie Smith has paid special attention. The episode took place at noon yesterday in the yards of the B. & O. company in the Sixth ward, where Miss Smith was holding one of the reneings for railroad workers. About fifty employees were present and manifested much interest in what was said to them. One of the men, a German, in a sneering manner made a remark about Miss Smith and her work that was hoard Miss Smith and her work that was head to them. One of the men, a German, in a sneering manner made a remark about Miss Smith and her work that was heard by all present. Miss Smith was naturally very much shocked, but she replied to the fellow in a most severe manner. The fellow was soon put to shame and slunk away. The balance of the men showed very plainly their displeasure, and later in the day the officials of the road learning of what had taken place discharged the man. The B & O. company has always appreciated Miss Smith's work and always protects her and grants her all privileges in its power.

Miss Smith was busily engaged all day yesterday. The work here has fairly started and very decided results are anticipated. At 9 clock yesterday a prayer service was held at the Fourth street church and at noon the meeting in the railroad yards. At 3 clock there was another interesting meeting at the time of the county.
